CENTENARY OF CASSIUS CLAY

Anniversary of Birth of Kentucky's Distinguished Son Calls to Mind
Fact He Has Been Dead
But Six Years.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 19.—Today marks the centenary of the birth of Cassius M. Clay, politician, diplomat, abolitionist and journalist, and in many respects one of Kentucky's most distinguished sons. The fact that Mr. Clay has been dead but a few years—died in 1904, at the age of ninety-four—jumps it somewhat difficult to realize that he was born one hundred years ago.

Mr. Clay was born in Madison county, this state, October 19, 1810, and after graduating from Yale engaged in the practice of law. Between 1835 and 1840 he was three times elected to the Kentucky legislature, but was rejected by his constituents in 1841 on account of his strong anti-slavery opinions. In 1845 he established in Lexington an anti-slavery paper, which, after being suppressed by a mob, was revived and republished in Cincinnati. Mr. Clay was appointed Lincoln in 1860, and was appointed Lincoln on his return in 1862 he was made major-general of volunteers. He was again appointed to Russia in 1863, and remained there as minister until 1869. The latter years of his life were spent at his home at White Hall, near Richmond, Ky.

to Defend Themselves in $10,000,
000 Damage Suit.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Co. company when Attorney Edgar, holding proxies from the independent committee, including Secretary Franklin MacVough of the United States treasury, made charges of gross mismanagement of the affairs of the railroad, and almost simultaneously a deputy sheriff served subpoenas on the officers of the road to appear in a $10,000,000 damage suit brought by Edgar.

WHAT WILL BE THE CHARACTER OF THE NEW APPOINTMENTS?

Much Conjecture As To Who Will Receive Offices Under Governor To Be Elected This Fall.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Oct. 19.—With a republican victory in Wisconsin on Nov. 8 practically conceded, there is much speculation as to the character of the appointments which Francis E. McGovern will make in cases where terms of various office-holders and members of boards and commissions expire. Judged by present political conditions, there are instances where reappointments will be in order, but there are others in which changes will be made.

As to members of the board of university regents, it has just been known that reappointments were made recently in the cases of Magnus Swenson of Madison, representative of the state-at-large; Thos. Norcross of Janesville, from the first congressional district; and Mrs. Florence Buck-staff of Oshkosh, whose term expired in February of the present year; but two others whose terms expired at the same time have not been reappointed, and hold office only until their successors have been named—Elias Lloyd Jones of Milwaukee, third district, and Gustav Koller of Appleton, ninth district. These two, it is said, may not be reappointed. The terms of five other regents will expire in February, 1911—L. S. Hanks, Madison, second district; Frederick
C. Thwaites, Milwaukee, fourth district;
James P. Trotman, Milwaukee, fifth district; D. P. Lamoreaux, Beaver Dam, sixth district; and Edward Evans, La Crosse, seventh district.
Of these, L. S. Hanks, D. P. Lamoreaux and Edward Evans probably will be reappointed, if they will accept.
In case McGovern is elected, although it has been said that Mr. Hanks declines to retire from the board. The terms of the remaining members of board, except those of President C. R.
Van Hise and C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction, who are ex-officio members, will expire in February, 1912. They are: Former Gov. W. D. Hoard, Fort Atkinson, state-at-large; G. D. Jones, Wausau, tenth district, and A. P. Nelson, Grantsburg, eleventh district.

Important appointments will fall to Mr. McGovern in the event of his election. Among those who are likely to be continued in office are Joseph D. Beck, commissioner of labor and statistics; George Curtis Jr., of the tax commission; J. Q. Emory, dairy and food commissioner; Adjunct General Boardman, Halford Brickman, railroad commissioner, and Otto Gaffron, civil service commissioner.

Political opposition has developed already to the reappointment of M.
C. Borgh, commissioner of banking;
G. H. Heikeman, state fish and game warden, whose term expires in June, 1911; D. M. Muns, special agent to the governor, Supt. of Public Property; C. C. Bennett and D. H. Davies, state treasury agent.

Although the term of office of State Fire Marshal Purcell does not expire until 1912, leaders of the progressive faction are pushing about for some method of displacing him. The first plan broached was the abolition of his office by the legislature. This, however, would be strenuously opposed by the fire insurance companies, who believe that the office is of great assistance in keeping down incendiarism. Another plan involves the placing of the fire marshal under the control of the insurance commissioner, as was done with the old state land office, which was merged with the treasury department. This would make the fire marshal a subordinate of Herman L. Ebern, in the event of the latter's election as insurance commissioner, and the La Follette men do not believe the present fire marshal would take kindly to such a change.
Mr. Purcell has been an active supporter of the present administration, and the progressives are determined that he shall go.

IMPOSTERS CANVASS FOR DIETZ DEFENSE

bled With Schemers Collecting Money To Aid in Defense.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Milwaukee, Oct. 19.—The Dietz defense committee composed chiefly of the Milwaukee socialists, is now having serious trouble with impostors who canvass the city asking money to add to the defense fund. Several cases were reported to the police today but no arrests have been made.
No authorized canvassers have been sent out by the committee.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—After

today on his own application. Lieut.

West Point academy in 1878 and has served continuously in the infantry army. His last post of duty was with his regiment at Fort Snelling, Minn.

GIANT STEAMERS TO CARRY 5,000

OLYMPIC AND TITANIC ALMOST READY FOR THE SEA.

LAUNCHING AT BELFAST

Tomorrow the First Named Leviathan
Will Attract Wide Attention—Has Skating Rink and Swimming Pool.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Belfast, Oct. 19.—An ocean steamer that will rank among the wonders of the world is to be launched tomorrow at the yards of Harland and Wolff, in this city. The steamer is the Olympic class and close by is her sister ship, the Titanic, which will also soon be ready to take her initial plunge in the deep.

While nothing seems to be impossible with shipbuilders, there are many hold enough to prophesy that, so far as size is concerned, these steamers are the last word in the building of merchant ships. They are being built for the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, more widely known as the White Star Line, and will ply between Liverpool and New York.

The new vessels will have a displacement of 48,000 tons. They are to be 680 feet long, with a beam of 90 feet, and the boat deck will be more than 60 feet above the water.
In both tonnage and size they will surpass the Mauretania and the Lusitania, although they are not expected to do so in speed. The lines of the new ships are not designed for great speed—21 knots being the average aimed at as against the 25 of the Great Conquerors. An immense amount of space, which in fast boats is devoted to machinery, will thus be saved for cabin accommodation. The carrying capacity of the Olympic and the Titanic will exceed that of any other ships afloat today by at least one-third. Each ship will carry, under normal load, more than five thousand persons all told.

In almost every respect, the new ships will be floating hotels. Dancing rooms, smoking rooms, a library and even gardens are to occupy prominent positions in these wonderful vessels. There will be a cool avenue of Oriental palms, beds of roses and carnations, and arbors skillfully contrived by expert gardeners. In the winter months all these are to be protected by glass roofs. Among other interesting innovations will be a swimming bath, sufficiently deep for diving and a skating rink.

The suites of cabins are to be in their design and fittings equal to the rooms in the finest hotels of Europe, and families will be able to cross the Atlantic in almost the same privacy as in their own homes. There are to be many dining rooms, the principal one of which will be elaborately decorated and will seat no fewer than six hundred. Those who wish to take their meals on deck can do so at a "veranda-cante" situated on one of the upper decks about fifty feet above the level of the water.

All the cafes will be decorated in a remarkable manner. They will be furnished to represent those of the Riviera. Exposed rafters will be twined with vines, and, to complete the illusion, the attendants will be similar to those in Southern Europe.
The Olympic and the Titanic will be as complete in their safety appliances as in their luxurious equipment. Each boat will be divided into upward of thirty steel compartments, separated by heavy bulkheads. An automatic device on the bridge will control all these heavy steel doors, making it possible for a single hand to close them all in case of danger.

A combination of turbine and reciprocating engines will propel the ships. It is expected that a great economy of coal will be effected by this arrangement. The crews will be the largest ever employed on merchant ships, each vessel carrying more than 60,000 tons. It is expected that both ships will be ready to be placed in regular service early next spring.

AMERICA II LEADING THE BALLOON RACERS

One of the Big Gas Bags That Passed
Over City Yesterday Morning
Now in Hudson Bay Country.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Reports here today of the International balloon races indicate that an American balloon now leads seven foreign gas bags toward the wilds of Canada in the Hudson Bay country. The America II was early today five miles ahead of the German Dusseldorf and Hamburg II, heading through Ontario, toward Hudson Bay. Other balloons are still aloft but in the rear.

THE AMERICA II WAS THE BALLOON

The America II was the balloon that was spoken to by several farmers near the city yesterday morning and then sailed away to the northward driven by the high winds. One of the two German balloons referred to is probably the large gas bag that passed over the city at night.

In Ontario.
Little Current, Ont., Oct. 19.—A large balloon passed over Manitowauke, Little Current, and Manitoulin Island today, traveling northward. The height was about 1,500 feet.

Express Fears.
Alpena, Mich., Oct. 19.—Fears for the seven balloons now in the air sailing northward are felt today following the warning from Washington of the outbreak of a severe storm over Lake Superior.
Vessels on Lakes Huron, Superior and Michigan have been advised to seek shelter.

PROPERTY OWNERS CARING FOR TREES

Janesville's Elms Cared For By Surgical Methods of Saw and Cement.

When the sudden change in temperature last spring denuded many of the handsome elms and other trees of the city of their buds it was freely predicted that there would be a wholesale death among them by another year. However, by careful trimming it was said that they could be saved. Acting on this suggestion the property owners of the city have been at work and many of the trees are almost bare stumps now that the work is done.

According to horticulturists this is a good season of the year to trim fruit and shade trees. The sap, it is claimed, is now well down, and bleeding cannot possibly occur except in abnormal cases.

Warning is given, however, that persons having trees to prune should take particular measures that arboreal butchery is not practiced upon their property. There is a science, about trimming limbs from trees, and unless the laws of nature are observed there is danger of stunted growth, deformed conditions, or even death to the plant.

That the branches be cut close to the trunk, is one of the urgent advice given out by those who are acquainted with horticultural methods. The cut should be parallel with the trunk and should be reaccomplished so that there is no stub left on the stalk. The sap runs in direct currents, just under the bark, along the trunk to the leaves and back to the roots. If the leaves are cut off, the circulation stops; and as there are no leaves on the stub, the sapflowing ceases, and there can be no healing.

Pruners are also warned not to cut off a branch larger than one inch in diameter, close to the trunk, until it first has been severed farther out—from six inches to one foot. This prevents the peeling down of the bark just under the wound which even a small branch may cause. To avoid any such wounds, a very sharp ax or saw should be used.

Care should be taken that the wound be clean. All decayed matter should be removed, and the stub painted with ordinary white lead or coal tar from time to time until the place has thoroughly healed. The cavities after being cleaned should be filled with Portland cement and sand in the same manner that a dentist fills a tooth.

This is an exceptionally good time for trimming because the trees are in a condition to heal the wounds most quickly. Next in order of preference is Josephine A. Malone, Miss Lucile early spring, when the sap is rising from the roots, is the worst time.

BANKERS' SPECIALS THRO' HERE FRIDAY

Four Trains Carrying Delegates From Convention at Los Angeles Coming on C. & N. W. Road.

Four special trains, carrying a party of four limited and fifty people, who have been attending the National Bankers' convention in Los Angeles, Cal., are scheduled to pass through this city on the North-Western road Friday morning, probably about four o'clock. The trains will be of the most modern railroad equipment, electric-lighted and will be known as the Red, White, Blue and Green sections, arriving here in the order named from St. Paul for Chicago, where they will be turned over to the Michigan Central and Lake Shore roads for eastern points. The first two sections will carry a baggage car, New York Central buffet, seven sleepers, a Santa Fe through diner and a North-Western diner, but on at St. Paul. The last two sections will have one less sleeper. According to the bulletin issued, notifying railroad men of the special, the departing time from St. Paul will be 7:30 Thursday evening, and the trains are scheduled to arrive in Chicago at 7:30 Friday morning, but the Omaha road will try to run the trains ahead of Train No. 2 (No. 502 through here) and from Elroy to Chicago, an effort will be made to have them ahead of 502.

GAVE EXHIBITION OF EATING GLASS

"Shorty" Jones, Laborer, Did Dime Museum Stunt for Benefit of Select Audience Today.

"Shorty" Jones, on the payroll of the company as John Jones, and depicted as a laborer in the house, quit his job this morning and just before he took his leave from the South Janesville yards, gave an exhibition to some of the slides, rarely seen outside of the slideshows. "Shorty," who is termed a "bummer," has traveled considerably and in his checkered career has had as a business asset an accomplishment which few possess. He is a glass-eater, and boasts that he swallows the fragments. He has performed mostly in saloons, but gave a special benefit performance this morning. He took some pieces of window glass which lay outside the roundhouse and crushed them with his teeth.

RECORD TIME MADE BY A FISH TRAIN

Trains of Six Cars Traveled 118 Miles at Nearly Mile-a-Minute.

Speed records for a loaded train on the North-Western road were broken by Engineer Foster and Fireman Fens, who brought a train of six cars of fish from Elroy to Janesville, a distance of one hundred and eighteen miles, in two hours and seven minutes. The average rate of speed at which they traveled was about a mile a minute. Two stops were made for water, no time for coal and once for lighting. Like a step of three minutes was made in this city and Engineer Yates and Fireman Grantham took it from Janesville to Chicago in one hour and forty-three minutes—quick time despite the fact they were held up south of here.

The machinists' force at the roundhouse has been reduced temporarily. Three of the men who have been working days have been laid off for a short period.

The office and storehouse at the new yards have been painted and given a general cleaning.

Engine 751 is out of the house after a general repainting.

Machinist Helper Will Sullivan is spending the day in Milwaukee.

Switchman Joseph Dempsey and Edward Bier have returned to work.

Fireman Roy Williams is back on the six o'clock switch-engine after a long, serious illness.

Fireman Olin returned to work today on 634 and 541 and Fireman Will Coen, who has been relieving him, went on the extra board.

Arthur Lauch, laborer, is visiting in Milwaukee.

Switchman Bradley is in charge of the half and half switch-engine today with Switchman Erdmann and Light-hizer assisting him.

Switchman Hans Dohrmond is laying off and is enjoying a vacation in Milwaukee.

Switchman Fraunfelder is taking Switchman M. Dill's place on the six o'clock switch-engine at Janesville.

John Clough is in charge of the day switch-engine at the new yards.

Engineer L. Gestland has resumed work on the half and half switch-engine after laying off for three days.

Engine 1155 has been turned over from the Northern Wisconsin division to the Wisconsin division for service.

Engineer Williams back on the seven o'clock switch-engine and Engineer Stewart, who relieved him, has gone on the extra board.

Frank Hager of the car department has left the service.

A. J. Clark, head boiler-maker at the shops, has returned from an extended western trip where he visited Seattle, Tacoma and other points of interest.

Charles Connors, who has returned to this city from Seattle, is working at the new yards.

JOHN ALDRICH IS ABLE TO BE ABOUT AFTER ACCIDENT

Drakeman Hurt at Mineral Point Last Friday May Be Able to Resume Work Today.

Drakeman John Aldrich, who was badly injured while working on Train No. 92, while at Mineral Point last Friday morning, is able to be about again and may resume work today. Aldrich narrowly escaped being killed while throwing a switch there and was badly hurt and bruised about the head, shoulders and hips. The engine of the train swayed while he was standing near a switch, striking him on the head and stunning him. He fell under the car, was hit by the work box under the car and by some miracle pushed off the rail. He was picked up and brought to Janesville.

Traveling Engineer William Hart of Milwaukee was in the city Monday on a trip over the Prairie du Chien and Mineral Point divisions.

Roundhouse Foreman George Henderson spent yesterday in Rockford.

Frank Rider is working as night call boy and Ward, who gave up the position, is working as switchman.

Train No. 166 had two sections out of here last night.

Are Drugs Necessary? Do Drugs Cure Disease? Can Nature be Assisted?

If people were born right and afterwards lived right, there would be no need for medicine. Every doctor knows this. So do other well-informed people. One thing more. When a person lives wrongly, or acquires bodily weakness by heredity, medicine can do only very little. Medicine cannot cure him. Only charlatans claim that medicine will cure disease. Medicine may palliate symptoms. Medicine may urge the powers of Nature to forestall disease. Medicine sometimes arouses the efforts of the human body to right itself against derangements. This is the most that medicine can do.

A man accidentally puts his finger in the fire. Instinctively he wets his finger in his mouth, then blows on it for the cooling effect. This is no cure. He knows it very well. But it makes it feel better for the time being.

People eat unwisely. This produces dyspepsia or indigestion. The only rational cure is to eat correctly. Yet if a palliative is at hand the pains of indigestion can be mitigated, the throes of dyspepsia assuaged. The medicine cannot be said to have cured. It simply palliates disagreeable symptoms. The cure must come through right living.

Take Peruna, for instance. No one claims Peruna is a cure for dyspepsia. But Peruna will stimulate the stomach to perform its function properly. Peruna will increase the flow of digestive fluids, without which digestion cannot be carried on at all. It will increase the relish of food, the appetite.

It is admitted that all this can be accomplished by right living, but there are so many people who either will not or do not know how to eat correctly that a tremendous amount of good can be done by the wise use of Peruna.

A stomach that has been frequently abused performs the function of digestion very lazily. Such a stomach allows the food to remain undigested for some time after it is swallowed. This leads to fermentation of the food. Sour stomach is the result. This goes on week after week, until the blood is poisoned with the products of fermentation. This condition is very apt to produce rheumatism.

It is not claimed that Peruna will cure rheumatism. Nothing will cure rheumatism but correct living. But it is claimed that Peruna will assist a badly abused stomach to perform its work.

If a person would correct his habits, persist in right eating and temperate ways, undoubtedly the stomach would right itself, the blood would rid itself of the poison, and everything would be right. But as said before there are a multitude of people who will not or cannot adopt right methods of living. To such people Peruna is a boon. A dose before meals will assist the stomach to do its work. This prevents fermentation of the food, brings about normal digestion, and all the train of ills that follow indigestion disappear.

In other words, Peruna is helpful to those who live badly, or those who have acquired some chronic weakness. Peruna does not cure, but it assists the powers of Nature to bring about a cure. The whip does not increase the power of the horse to pull a load, but judiciously used it stimulates the horse to use his powers at the right time, without which he could not have pulled the load.

This illustrates the effect of Peruna, or any other good remedy upon the system. Taken at the right time, it calls forth the powers of the human system to meet the on-rushments of disease, and thus cures, if not entirely ends, the diseased action.

No one should ever attempt to substitute medicine in the place of right living. In the end such an attempt will prove a disaster. But an occasional use of the right medicine at the right time is a godsend, and no reasonable person will undertake to deny it.

Those who know how to use Peruna find it of untold value. By and by the world will get wise enough so that through correct living no medicine at all will be needed. But that time has not arrived. In the meantime, while the world is approaching that perfection in which all medicine will be eliminated, Peruna is a handy remedy to have in the house.

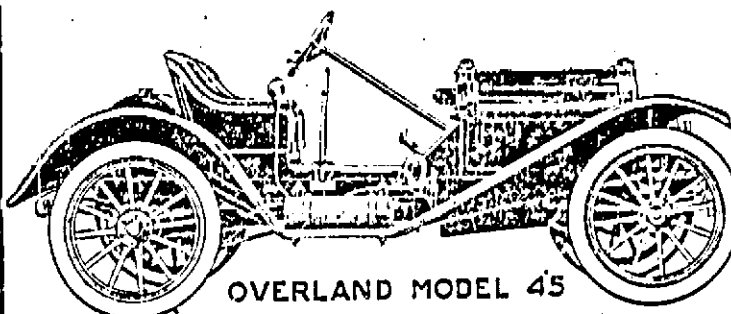

Slight derangements of the stomach, slight catarrhal attacks of the liver, the throat, bronchial tubes, lungs or bowels; these attacks are sure to lead to grave diseases, and can be averted by the judicious use of Peruna.

Wouldn't you like to read a few unsolicited testimonials from people who have used Peruna, and who stand ready to confirm the above statements concerning it. If so, address the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio, and we will send some prepaid.

Newman Bros. Pianos Satisfy

Because in the building of our piano the principal purpose is the development of a TONE quality that will stand forth in the musical world as the NEWMAN BROS. tone. The development of which has cost us a life time of study and is produced not only by following the lines of the most perfect scales known, and employing the most skilled workmen and using nothing but the finest materials to be had in the market, but by a method of construction is most complete in its details. As the result of this we have developed a quality of singular clearness, blended with that liquid flow ordinarily found only in the human voice, the effect of which is most noticeable in the deep, heavy bass and moving gradually to the bird-like notes of the treble with each part in perfect fullness.

To prove the above statements we invite you to our piano room where you can see and hear for yourself. Send for a catalogue.

BEAUTIES OF THE LAW.

The primary law is not only the most expensive law ever placed on the Wisconsin statute books, but it contains more surprises than any measure ever enacted. The latest was furnished by the supreme court in the decision which practically puts the democratic party on the shelf.

The party has long suffered from an element of "fair minded" voters which gave support to a faction in the republican party and now suffers the consequences. It is particularly unfortunate this year, when old time democracy throughout the country has shaken off Bryanism and has already gained some victories with more in sight. The Wisconsin contingency is an interested spectator, consoled by a primary law whose beauties become more and more apparent as time passes.

The state and the nation has always been at its best when the forces of these two great parties have been so evenly divided that one acted as a check upon the other, and the republican party is suffering today because of a long era of undisputed authority. Having no democratic opposition, and eager for some kind of a fray it courted internal strife which it secured in liberal measure.

The primary law not only destroys parties, but it rejuvenates the dead. Not since the dawn of the resurrection has any human agency been equal to this task. Spiritualism has failed in every attempt, and mediums have retired from the scene discredited and disappointed, but this travesty is equal to any emergency, and at its bidding the dead enter the political arena, and compete for the prizes.

Had every successful state candidate passed on, three days before election, the law would have been equal to the occasion, and the ghosts of the departed would have marshaled in silent array to pay tribute to a power so unique and yet so humanly inspired.

The beauties of this wonderful law are beyond description, and we are only yet in the first flush of its glory. When the next legislature picks up the brush there will appear on the scene a picture of "Mary Ann," the handmaid of destiny, and many other attractive features already conceived and now drifting toward fruition. It is a great law with greater prospects, and when the flubbing touches are applied it will be court proof. The Milwaukee Sentinel has this to offer concerning the law and the Hancock case:

"The decision of the supreme court in the Hancock case makes legally square with common sense. Mr. Hancock's name will go on the official ballot as nominee for attorney general."

"The Wisconsin primary law has in operation bred many fantastic vagaries—none more so, we think, than this development of factional fanaticism and subversive which procured for a dead man a majority at the primaries."

"It was a ghastly farce, a performance unjust to the living and none too respectful to the deceased. To hear Mr. Hancock, the word was passed out from his opponents to vote for a man whom they knew to be dead!"

"The court holds that such votes must be regarded as so much waste paper. It is a sensible and in a peculiar and discreditable travesty on popular election."

THE WORLD'S COAL BIN.
Nature has so generously distributed her supply of coal, oil and mineral that no nation has a monopoly on any of these products. The Standard Oil company, with its great properties and strong equipment, is only one of many producers, and its strongest rivals are in the old world.

The coal bins of the United States are only part of a group whose activities are world-wide, yet the operators in this country produce coal cheaper than in any other, because of the liberal use of machinery. The anthracite fields, within 150 miles of New York, furnish millions of tons of coal which is marketed almost exclusively in the seaboard cities, because there is but little demand for it in the West on account of its size. This coal is sold at from $2.50 to $3.00 per ton, while the size generally known as "nut," commands about twice the money, and this price increases in proportion to the distance from the source of supply.

The question of distribution enters largely into the cost of coal, in any market. Consumers in Scranton, Pennsylvania, pay from a dollar to a dollar and a half a ton for "birdseye," while the same coal on a thousand miles from the mines commands four times the money. An exchange contains the following interesting figures:

"Of the total coal production of the world, 956,674,000 tons, the United States furnishes 390,000,000 tons, as against the United Kingdom's 253,744,000, and Germany's 146,507,000 tons. France produces 36,000,000 tons, Russia 25,000,000, Belgium 23,000,000, Japan 14,000,000, British India 12,500,000, Australia 10,000,000, and Canada 9,700,000. The entire annual product of the world is valued at $1,854,221,000 as it reaches the mouth of the pit, an average of $1.98 per ton.

"Coal is produced at a lower price per ton in the United States than in the United Kingdom, not because labor is cheaper in the former country, but because machinery is more generally employed.

"While the United States is the greatest producer of coal, it tops all the others as consumers. Its consumption, for instance, equals the combined consumption of the United Kingdom, Germany, France and Belgium. The climate accounts for this to some extent; the extravagant habits of the American people for most of it. They burn coal when it is not necessary, and in this particular respect they are different from the people of all other countries.

"All the countries named import as well as export coal. There is a constant and continuous international exchange of fuel. It is sometimes more convenient to import coal from another country than to mine it at home. The United Kingdom sells coal to all the world, but coal is frequently brought to Newcastle, figuratively speaking. The United States serves a great part of the world and finds in its neighbors, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, very good customers.

"Although local prices for coal are higher than they used to be, it does not appear that the cost of production has advanced greatly. What has advanced is the cost of distribution."

The republican state central committee acted wisely when it decided not to openly oppose the candidacy of Judge Levi P. Hancock for the office of attorney general. Any other policy would have been an insult to the supreme court.

Colonel Roosevelt is finding it difficult to maintain his position on the crest of the wave. The atmosphere in some localities is a little chilly for high altitudes and the colonel is more or less sensitive.

The common council will be commended for its efforts in trying to recover taxes which justly belong to the city. The burden of taxation should be shared by all kinds of property.

Walter Wellman is the hero of the hour and the rescue of his party is cause for general rejoicing. Seventy hours in the air is the time record for continuous flight.

It takes a boy to ride a bicycle, play football, and capture prizes on the diamond. The Athletic ball team is a boys' team and the Cubs are a little slow.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

LOVING, LOVABLE, LOVED.

A gentle man lived.
When he died the children who had known him in life gave of their pen and pencils to build a memorial to him. On the stone was carved this epitaph:

"Loving, lovable, loved."

And this gentle man, who really lived and died, was worthy of the words.

He was loving.

He loved everybody and everything, the lovely as well as the lovable, for there are no limits to loving soul, and there is no end of its loving. So this man went on to the end loving the worthy and the unworthy. Particularly he loved children and animals and flowers. He could not pass a child without speaking to it, and he was never too busy to listen to its prattle or soothe its sorrows. Always in his pockets he carried candy and bright pennies. Out in his garden he was sometimes seen to caress his flowers and even to speak to them. Love flowed from him as naturally as water flows down the mountain side. Almost it could be said he was love personified.

He was loved.
Kindness and thoughtfulness marked his actions. Passing through a swing door he always looked to see if any followed. In the cars he moved to make room or gave his seat to another. Did a stranger inquire he would sometimes go a block or so to show the way. Always in his back yard was water for the birds. And everywhere he showed "a glorious morning face." Little things, you say. And so they are, but in life's commonplace the little things are the giant that reveal true character.

Which is only saying that like must attract like. The innocent child, seeing the man's face a reflection of its own gentle purity, looked and was not afraid. On his approach a vagrant dog would wag its tail in sheer gladness, seeing in him one that understood. And the children? No prince ever drew after him a more loyal retinue of retainers. Down the street he often used to come, little children clinging to his hands and surrounded by indulgent courtiers, a royal procession.

So he lived and died and never achieved greatness nor wealth nor social prestige. And yet—
I should rather have lived his life than to be president of the United States.

Game Slaughter in Germany.
Half a million sportsmen in Germany kill annually 40,000 head of red and fallow deer, 200,000 roebuck, 4,000,000 hares, 4,000,000 partridges and 400,000 wild duck, in all some 25,000,000 kilograms of wild game of a value of 25,000,000 marks, or $5,000,000, forming nearly 1 per cent. of the total meat supply of Germany.

By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George M. Shaw Adams.)

If there's anything the matter, anything that's in a plight, let us hold a little "congress," and we'll surely make it right. We've adjusted many troubles since the congress had begun; we have straightened out the prisons on a highly moral plan; without irritating congress we have saved the creeks and ponds, and the bankers held a congress in the interests of bonds; and dry farmers held a congress with increased duty dry, and a conservation congress made the fur and feathers fly. Let us hold a congress often and attend it in the group, and we'll have a picture taken in a gay and joyous group, and we'll make some windy speeches, and we'll call each other boys, and we'll overpower reporters if they do not flee like fawns. And we'll talk about our wood, and we'll stand up for the Uplift and the fine old Larger Good. Oh, we'll chase some sinful Peril to its dark and noisome den, then we'll pay our own expenses and come toddling home again!

DEPENDS ON OTHERS

SUCCESS IS BY NO MEANS ALWAYS A MATTER OF PERSONAL FITNESS.

HARD TO SHAPE OWN DESTINY

Business Girl Rightly Declares That Much Depends on the Manager Under Whom You Work—Some Instances to Prove This Truth.

"Shape my own destiny? Pretty nice idea all right! If you worked in this office you'd think the chief did all the shaping himself according to his own sweet will and caprice.

"The most worthy girl isn't always the one who gets the most out of the under rung, but don't tell me she just naturally gets the palm from every boss that employs her. Every office isn't the average office, and every manager isn't the average manager, nor the model manager, nor the just, discreet and capable manager. Always—there are chiefs and chiefs."

This spoke a brilliant business girl who found that her new chief's peculiar idiosyncrasies and rooted indifference to feminine talent darkened her outlook.

And right here managers of diverse sorts began to swarm in our retrospects. We listed, catalogued and annotated a number of them. Some we found just common patterns of swagging authority who live and live about three new girls every month, others of the unkind sort who hounded down to a science and favoritism down to an art, and still others were just soft hearted mopeheads, who got business all mixed up with the inner tug of their undiminished nature. One we put down as a hoodlum in the girl who works for him, and only two out of ten, we listed as a pleasure to work with.

"I'll never forget that youngish manager in that first office I worked in," said one of us. "He was just in that stage when they see Helen's beauty in the brow of Egypt. Do you know those pink cheeked little asexuals always worked him more than he ever worked them—they used to have headaches, and toothaches, and noseaches other aches so often that many afternoon their work devolved on the more staid and rugged girls who never reaped much credit in matter how much they dragged and plodded. The handsome girl always had the soft spot. Talk about your chance of success there, I left the second month and I never was sorry for it."

Another one of our company had tried hard to harmonize with a certain I am, opinionated, stuck-on-his-authority sort whom every one felt like hitting back to a common sense view of things.

He was so slow to boost or encourage that most of his employees sank into that fatal indifference which only looks forward to pay day. He liked to show you the whip hand. He would make you toe the mark with a lot of supercilious criticism and that advice just to impress it on you that he was commander in chief.

Who hasn't seen or heard of the manager who has such a variety of outside interests that he keeps hopelessly scratching around town most of the time, and when things are at sixes and sevens, will fling aspersions right and left? Innocent ones are criticized and the good bluffers always draw the long end.

This type of boss is usually too busy and distracted really to keep tabs on what you are doing. When he has a lot of substitutes who don't care to draw the reins tight in his absence you are sure to be a disadvantage. Your extra efforts aren't noticed enough. You think what the use if I don't get credit for it?

Who can deny it—a little of our success always depends on the character of the people you work for.

Wouldn't it be fine if the business girl could choose her manager, just as her manager chooses his stenographer?

Choosing a Career.

It is true, of course, that the problem of personal adjustment is a difficult one for a great many young men. Those older men who remember their own perplexities will have ample sympathy for the college junior or senior who is a well balanced man and entirely willing to do faithful work in the world, but is not conscious of an overpowering call to enter any particular profession. Some young men decide those questions on broad principles, while others are guided by immediate considerations. I have never believed that the successful choice and pursuit of a calling should be thought chiefly a matter of affinity. Neither am I inclined to think it all a matter of character; that is to say, of steadfastness, wholeheartedness and concentration. Not only is all good work honorable, but it can be made sufficiently interesting.—Albert Shaw.

CELEBRATES HISTORIC EVENT.

Surrender of Cornwallis to Washington is Commemorated.

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19.—This town was the scene of a most interesting celebration today which was attended by many prominent men and by thousands of other visitors. The occasion was the 125th anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis to Gen. George Washington, an event which marked the conclusion of the War for Independence and which has given to the little hamlet of Yorktown a lasting fame which endears it to the American people. There have been other celebrations on former anniversaries of the triumph of the Continental army and its French allies over the British. Indeed some sort of commemorative exercises are held each autumn, but this year's program was far more pretentious than anything which had preceded it. The celebration was under the direction of the Yorktown Historical Society of the United States and the Society of the Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, with the co-operation of other patriotic organizations. Governor Mann of Virginia presided and the governors of the thirteen original states were invited. J. J. Jusserand, ambassador of France to the United States, made an address. The war and navy departments at Washington arranged the military and naval display that contributed the chief spectacular features to the celebration.

BODY TISSUES REMOVED; LIVE.

Startling Discovery by Dr. Carrel

Aided by Rockefeller Experts.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 19.—Along lines conceived by himself and worked out under the guidance of the Hopkins men at the head of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Dr. Alexis Carrel has made one of the most important and startling medical discoveries of the age. Briefly, Doctor Carrel's discovery involves a method of removal from the human body of portions of the stomach, blood vessels, skin, bone and practically every other tissue and of making them grow outside the body at as lively a rate as they did in the human form in which they belonged.

Set the Pace.

Young Mabel had a habit when soup was served at the table of munching her crackers or bread in it until it was a great mess. Her mother made many efforts to have her correct this strictly physical habit.

One day there was to be company at the table, and the mother said: "Now, Mabel, Mrs. Brown is to dine with us tonight, and I want you to do at the table just as nicely as she does. Please don't 'munch' your soup."

Mabel promised faithfully to follow the example set by Mrs. Brown, and the dinner opened with every promise of a fine time. However, Mabel was using a pair of very sharp eyes on Mrs. Brown and in an instant blurted forth at the top of her voice:

"Oh, mamma, Mrs. Brown is 'munching'! May I?"

Had Tried Electricity.

A benevolent gentleman attempted to converse with the motherly old lady who sat next to him in the railway carriage. He discovered that she was very deaf, and the conversation was established by shouting.

"You are very deaf, aren't you, madam?" ultimately followed he of the benevolence.

"I am so," was the reply, "and haven't been able to do a thing for it?"

"Have you ever tried electricity?" shouted the kind hearted man.

"Yes," she said, nodding vigorously, "I was struck by lightning last summer."—London Graphic.

How She Felt.

Stella—So you kissed the young parson in the dark hall, thinking it was your brother? You must have felt awfully cheap when you discovered your mistake. Mabel—Cheap! Why, I felt like a Friday remnant at a Monday bargain sale.—Chicago News.

Foreign.

Doctor (after careful examination)—Some foreign substance is lodged in your eye. Domestic—Oh, I knowed it! That's what O' git 'e warraided wid them Frenchmen.—Illustrated Bits.

His Views.

"What are your views on currency?" asked the busy citizen.

"Mostly sad and reminiscent," answered the man who had been to the races.—Washington Star.

Avoid multiplicity of business.

The man of one thing is the man of success.—Edwards.

Unhappiness.

James—The attitude of unhappiness is not only painful, it is mean and ugly.

ONE OF THE GREATEST TESTS

of a fighter is his ability to take punishment. A man is a good man in proportion as he can take hard knocks and overcome them. The same rule holds good in the business world. A product is a good product in proportion as it can take hard knocks and overcome them. There never was a good proposition that didn't have hinders and no goods overtopped the market without overcoming tremendous competition.

Take Runeson Roofs for instance. It was put on the market nineteen years ago by The Standard Paint Co. of New York. It was the best roofing made when it was put on the market, always has been, and is now—the best value for its price under every test to which roofing can be put.

Another advantage of Runeson Roofs is that it is also made in permanent colors of RED and GREEN. The reason Runeson colors are permanent is that they are not painted on—they are built into the fabric, and so cannot peel off.

Appl, altogether, from the testimony to its value which is supplied by people who have had it on their roofs for nineteen years, the most irrefutable evidence of its superiority is the cold, unvarnished fact that to-day it has over three hundred imitators, and that most of them use the letters "oid" at the end of the word which they use to describe their goods, and some of them go even further. They think they can't sell roofing at all unless they call it by the same name as The Standard Paint Co.'s roofing.

Suppose you had heard of RUBEROID ROOFING, had made up your mind to buy it, and asked for it from your dealer, and instead got some other roofing called by a name ending in "oid." Would you be getting a square deal? Would you be getting what you asked for? Would you be getting what you wanted or your roof needed?

Of course not.

RUBEROID ROOFING

made by The Standard Paint Co.—stamped on the outside of each roll and on every seven feet of its under side with the trade marks shown here—needs no argument to tell you of its superiority. This announcement is published in order that you—the ultimate consumer—may be clearly aware of the imitations and methods of fierce competition with which a searcher for the best roofing is misguided.

Get what you want.

Keeping Goat in Stable.

There is an old fashioned precaution of keeping a goat in a stable. Supposing always that the animals are loose, the goat will leave the stable on the outbreak of fire, and the horses will follow the goat when no amount of persuasion from man will get the terrified creatures to budge.

HOW SHE DODGED BORROWER

Cleveland Woman's Clever Method of Avoiding a "Touch" Without Giving Any Offense.

Men have something to learn from women in the art of warding off "touchers" for coin. Women respond to such requests once in about every thousand cases, but they are scrupulous in their refusal. A woman with a reputation as a borrower turned up at the home of one of her friends the other morning with a much done-over story about a persistent and threatening dressmaker, and the usual request for the loan—"pay it back tomorrow, certainly"—of $5.

"Why, my dear, certainly," was the pleasant response to her carefully rehearsed little yarn; "you poor thing, you! Just wait till I run upstairs and get my purse."

She ran upstairs. The male head of the house happened to be in the room where she kept her purse. He saw her slip the purse out of a chiffonier drawer and deliberately remove a wad of bills from it, leaving about thirty-seven cents in silver and copper in the change receptacle. The man was mean enough to lean over the stair railing when his wife went downstairs to the parlor with her flattened pocketbook in her hand.

"Oh, I'm so sorry, dearie," he heard her say, "but I really thought I had the money. I find, though, that Frank, as usual, has been at my purse—I heard him say something about settling a plumber's bill last night when I was half asleep—and the mean thing has only left me enough for carfare. Too bad! Of course, you know, if I had it,"—and so on.

Syrilan Tobacco Best.
The tobacco generally considered superior to all others is Syrilan. It is called Latakia, from the city of that name, the ancient and renowned port of Laodicea, which to the present day has a not inconsiderable trade. The city lies at the foot of Mt. Lebanon, not far from the spot where the remnants of the patriarchal cedars still grow.

Philosophy of Epictetus.
Epictetus: Everything has two handles; one by which it may be borne, another by which it cannot. If your brother acts unjustly, do not lay hold on the affair by the handle of his injustice, for by that it cannot be borne; but rather by the opposite, that he is your brother, that he was brought up with you, and thus you will lay hold on it as it is to be borne.

Balked at the Altar.
A young man named Wahl, who was about to be married at Regensburg, Germany, had entered the church when he was suddenly seized with terror, and, rushing out, took a cab to the station and jumped into a moving train. Commotion reigned in the church, and the deserted bride fell in a swoon.

Providing for the Future.
A Cornish editor appeals to his subscribers in this unique way: "If you have frequent headaches, dizziness, and fainting spells, accompanied by chills, cramps, chills, epilepsy and jaundice, it is a sign that you are not well, but are liable to die at any minute. Pay your subscription a year in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice."

Saved by His Nerve.
While partaking of a sportsman suddenly had hundreds of wasps settle upon him. They crawled upon his hands and face, but he kept his nerve and did not interfere with them. The wasps scared the sportsman's friends, and they got some distance away, being afraid to go near him. After about ten minutes the wasps flew off in a body without having stung him.

MEETING OF RETAILERS AND JOBBERS

Several retailers have suggested that instead of holding a Mass Meeting Friday night, that a dinner be given at one of the hotels. This suggestion has been received with much enthusiasm by the Retail Committee of this Club, and today papers are in circulation asking business men to agree to attend a dinner at 6:30, Friday night, instead of having the Mass Meeting. If enough business men will agree to attend this dinner, which is the earnest hope of the Committee, a real get together meeting will be the outcome. Reservations must be made in advance for a dinner, and all business men are requested to either call Mr. Henry Dedrick or the Commercial Club office before 2 o'clock tomorrow if they desire to attend the dinner. This meeting will be one of the utmost importance to all concerned and there should be a big attendance. You'll be there, won't you?

TIDY-TUN "DISCOVERY."

A Contrivance That Mothers Will Heartily Appreciate.

THEY'RE FOUND IN MENUS.

Delicacies About Which the Average Woman Has Only a Hazy Notion—A "Muldoon's" For Women—No Patient Permitted to Talk of Ailments.

Dear Madam—I know how it annoys you to have the children throw things about—their hats, caps and toys—so while staying with a friend recently I hit upon a "discovery" that you will appreciate and probably adopt for your own comfort. The three harum scarum boys in my friend's family ended the contrivance the "tidy-tun." What was it? Nothing more impressive than a small barrel (their mother has standing in her hall closet corner). It is a trifling affair that saves her much trouble and many steps; besides, it teaches the boys the value of tidiness. The little keg has a square of stout awning cloth drawn tightly over it, held in place by the upper barrel hoops. In this cloth are two eight-inch crosswise which will easily admit good sized articles of all sorts, but through which it would be well nigh impossible to fish them out again.

Into this barrel are slipped all the belongings left littering up the bedrooms or found scattered in dining room and living room after the youngsters have left for school or gone to bed. In the tidy-tun they remain in spite of the driest need and ferret pleadings until the monthly thorough sweeping days come around, when the tidy-tun is opened and the contents distributed to the delinquent owners on their promise to be less disorderly next month.

Many are the favorite pencils and ink erasers, the gay and sporty neckties, swallowed up by the tidy-tun and deep the anguish of the lad who sees his property disappear therein. But the little barrel has worked wonders, so the boy's mother told me, in mending habits of tidiness in the household.

What They Are.

In answer to your appeal for the information regarding some of the delicacies which are often referred to in menus and recipes about which you are rather hazy in your mind, I would say that you are not alone in this gastronomic fog. Most women know in a general way about all of these things, but here is a little additional information for you concerning them:

Anchovy, for instance, is a small fish which comes from the Mediterranean. It is freed from bones, split and salted and put up in glass jars and is called fillet of anchovy. It has a high flavor and is used as an appetizer or as a garnish for some salads.

Caviar is another highly flavored delicacy used as an appetizer. It is made from the roe of certain large fish, which are preserved by salting. It is served on small pieces of toast with finely-chopped onion and minced hard boiled eggs and lemon.

Chervil is a garden herb like young parsley. It is of a delicious flavor and may be used in salads and soups.

Chives are slim green onion tops with a mild flavor. They are excellent for flavoring soups, sauces and salads and some kinds of cheese.

Truffles are a species of fungus which are found only in France. They grow several inches underground and when fresh have a strongly aromatic flavor. They are usually sold in cans or glass bottles.

Chutney is an East Indian hot sweet pickle made from coconut, chilies and other articles.

Curry powder is a yellow powder, the principal ingredient of which is turmeric. It is a product of India and is a high seasoning for Indian dishes, such as curry of chicken, veal, lobster, and so forth. Here endeth the first lesson.

For Women's Nerves.

Did you ever hear of so many women breaking down nervously as they do at the present time? Well, yesterday I went to see one of the latest of my neurotic acquaintances and found that she had gone to a sanatorium where women receive something of the same kind of treatment that is given the men at the Muldoon's establishment in New Jersey. Every day the women patients assemble in the gymnasium and cure their scattered nerves by exercises which, in the case of the most proficient, emulate in standing on their heads, vaulting the "horse" or walking on their hands, according to the strength of the pupil.

The patients are taught to breathe. The opening ceremony is called "pumping," which is a sort of abdominal breathing. Even patients too ill to leave their beds are taught to do these and "pump."

The director claims that half the nervous troubles of womenkind are caused by inefficient breathing and that if the lungs are allowed an opportunity to purify the blood many ailments will be benefited. In the same way he gives particular attention to the muscles of the abdomen. With this end in view comes the "scissors" exercise. The patient, it seems, lies at full length on one side and makes her legs resemble a most active pair of scissors. After the gymnasium a period of rest follows, which the patients use in playing tennis, boating and swimming. The real fun of the day begins when the patients assemble for circus tricks in the ring.

Besides this, there are long country walks, for the "Muldoon's for women" is located on an estate of nearly 100 acres, and, no matter how poorly one of the guests may feel, with all the outdoor life she soon ceases to look like an invalid and, better still, ceases to remember that she is one.

At mealtime there is no special regimen for any one to follow, I am told. It is suggested that the very sick should abstain from pork and pie, but otherwise there is no dieting. Conversationally there is one strong rule. No patient is permitted to discuss her ailments or troubles with any other patient at meal or any other time. Possibly this is one of the reasons that these invalids recover so quickly.

I am sending a suggestion for the wedding gown of the business girl you know who has little to spend on her trousseau. It is developed in thin crepe de chine, with an overdress of chiffon crossing over the waist and fastening in points with tassels of silk and pearl beads. Fine lace trims the waist and sleeves and looks very delicate underneath the silky chiffon. The gown fits closely and is narrow even at the bottom of the skirt. The satin forms the girdle and is also knotted around the short sleeves. This gown may be made for $15.75 as counted up by

MABEL.

Old Gowns Made Over.

Don't consign last year's gown to the scrap bag! Make it over. That is, exert a little ingenuity and add a little new material and thereby evolve a new frock.

The princess gown can play the part of a foundation for this year's model. Drape the bodice or net or chiffon over the old form. Introduce a new yoke and sub-cuffs. Incorporate a square of lace with the material and embroider it with silk and beads.

Slip a gathered straight tulle over the skirt and edge it with a band of net or satin. Repeat the embroidered motif at the bottom of the skirt and so on, adding a touch here and taking away a piece there.

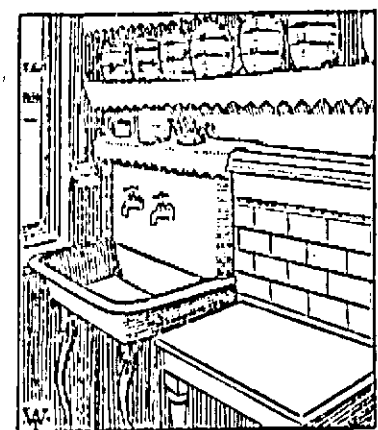

Never let a frock of other days go to waste. You can always build a new one on the old foundation.

Old blouses can be covered with a known slip of chiffon. Lace can be used for tucks or for underslips; silk can be combined with tulle or net. You need only keep your eyes wide open, and with a quick hand you can construct a new frock.

It is quite like the promise made to Aladdin to exchange old lamps for new, isn't it?

It's Sanitary, This Kitchenette.

Kitchenette apartments are the natural and logical outgrowth of the demand for home life by people of somewhat restricted incomes. They are cozy and inviting enough to mean homes to people who otherwise might be forced into boarding houses or the furnished room life, both of which have many drawbacks and are wanting in real comfort. The housewife, though mistress of an entire house, may gather some good points for her kitchen from the kitchenette illustrated in Good Housekeeping, with its tiled floors and walls, porcelain sink and marble topped table.

Pear Salad.

Pare and remove the cores from large ripe pears. Fill the centers with a mixture of chopped celery, English walnut meats and mayonnaise dressing. Arrange around the edge of a round, flat salad dish and fill the center with cream cheese which has been mixed with cream and forced through a fine potato ricer.

Picture-Marked Walls.

That main disadvantage in moving pictures around—the bright patches left on the walls where they have hung—is obviated by the scheme of one housewife. She drives a brass-headed tack into each lower corner of the picture frames. In this way the pictures are held out from the wall a fraction of an inch, allowing the air to circulate behind them.

Settling New Zealand.

New Zealand, which has been created a dominion, was first discovered by Tasman, the Dutch navigator, in 1642, but it was hardly known prior to the visits of Capt. Cook, who, in 1769 and subsequent years, sailed round the islands, and surveyed the coasts. The first European settlement there dates from 1814, and the first systematic colonization from 1838. In 1840 England proclaimed her dominion over the islands. In 1852 a constitutional form of government was established.

WATCHED REPORTS OF THE BIG GAME MOST ANXIOUSLY

Janesville "Guns" Kept Close Tab on the Playing Down in Philadelphia Through Medium of Gazette Bulletins.

While Janesville baseball enthusiasts are not noisy over the respective merits of their favorites in the big championship series, which is being played between the Cubs and the Athletics, still the interest displayed in the bulletin of the battle finished by the Gazette shows that both teams have their warm supporters in the city.

As fast as the returns were received they were posted in the window of the Gazette and distributed to nine other places of business where the fans congregated to listen to the full report of the Gazette. The Gazette had made special arrangements with the Associated Press to furnish the bulletin of the game by bulletin and with the United Press to give a detailed account of the game by hits.

COBB AND LAJOI SEATED IN THE TONNEAU OF AN AUTOMOBILE.

and plays throughout the series. The Associated Press service comes in over the Postal Telegraph wires while the United Press service was received over the news disseminating telephone in the Gazette office.

Owing to the pressure of work in the office in handling this double service and distributing it to the different subscribers who had arranged to take it and display it, many telephone calls for scores must be neglected but as there are so many places to learn the progress of the game it is hoped that all who were interested will be accommodated.

The next game is to be played on Thursday in Chicago. The Athletics have won the first two which gives them the advantage although the next two will be played on their rival's grounds which may even up the series with two all. In Philadelphia the fans believe that their team will win one of the Chicago games, making it three and one and then complete the victory with the game in Philadelphia on Sunday next.

Cub followers report having hard work to find enough Athletic money in the city to cover all they wished to risk. However, last evening after the second victory several twenty-five and fifty dollar bets were made even on the series and some of the Athletic enthusiasts even bet even money on the game in Chicago Thursday if Bender pitches.

One of the features of yesterday's game in Philadelphia was the presentation of two automobiles to Cobb, the Detroit player and Lajoi of the Cleveland team by an automobile manufacturer as the two best stickmen in the American league. Cobb received his machine in person while Lajoi had a substitute accept him from the hands of the manager who made the presentation speech.

DIED YESTERDAY AT HIS HOME NEAR EVANSVILLE

John Crawford, For Fifty Years A Resident in This Vicinity Passed Away.

Evansville, Oct. 18.—(Evansville, Oct. 18.)—John Crawford died yesterday at his home one mile and a half southwest of this city, aged seventy-two years. He had been seriously ill since Thursday and his demise was due to stomach trouble. He was born in Auburn, New York, Feb. 4, 1839 and came with his parents when five years old to Belvidere, Ill., and there grew to manhood. On May 12, 1860, he was married to Miss Serena Potter. In 1862 he enlisted in the civil war, but on account of sickness was discharged and since that time has not been well. In 1863 he moved onto a farm near Evansville and for nearly fifty years has lived in this vicinity. There are now left to him his wife and three children, John and Adelbert Crawford and Mrs. John A. Loughlin, all residing near this city. The funeral will take place tomorrow at ten o'clock from his late home, Rev. C. A. Coon of the Methodist church will conduct the service and burial will be made in Maple Hill cemetery.

AUDIENCE PLEASSED BY GERMAN COMEDY

"Alma Wo Wolnst Du?" Was the Production at the Myers Theatre Last Evening.

Theatre-goers enjoyed a rather unusual production at the Myers theatre last evening. "Alma Wo Wolnst Du?" ("Alma, Where Do You Live?") is a German comedy with music, and although the lines are all rendered in German the play was fairly well understood and appreciated by everyone, whether they understood the words or not. In some places where the comedy depended entirely on a correct understanding of the German words, the point of the pleasantry went by the non-German listeners. The audience last evening was almost entirely German and from the applause it was evident that they were well-pleased.

There was nothing exceptional about the plot of the play. It centers around a charming young woman named Alma, in whom all of the men are infatuated, and a young man who has inherited a fortune, but lacking in mental capacity, his jealous friends plan to relieve him of his money. The trick and who is successful, in places the play might be called naive, but the handling of the lines and the charming acting of Alma, makes these parts forgivable.

The German "frau" jealous of her husband, and the doltish old Herr, in love with Alma, are characters which effectively introduce comedy elements. Several sweet and lyrical musical numbers were very well rendered by the members of the cast who all had very pleasing voices. Miss Corn Morena, as Alma, and Jacob Bruhl, as Herr Rosenberg, the unsuspecting dupe, deserve mention both for their singing and acting. The "Alma" waltz has a very pretty melody and its attractive strains ran throughout the play.

Have You Voted On This Question of Trust-Tanned Leather and the Four Profits on Every Pair of Shoes?

You know very well that most shoes do not wear as well as they did ten years ago.

You know that they cost you a great deal more.

Leather men say it is because there are not enough hides; that people do not eat enough beef; and that farmers do not raise enough cattle.

Hides are scarce enough, in all conscience, but there are other reasons when you look for them.

If you are wearing any other shoes than Endicott-Johnson shoes you are probably paying profits to four middle men before you get the shoes on your feet—the Hide Trust profit, the Tanners' profit, the Leather Jobbers' profit and the Wholesale Shoe Dealers' profit. Don't you think it would pay you to buy shoes made by the only concern in the United States that tans its own leather—

The only shoe house that makes every part of the shoe on the premises and builds its shoe from the ground up, independent of all trusts—

A concern that deals directly with your home merchant and saves you the middlemen's profits?

People in a great many other cities have found that it pays them. It's no experiment.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. are not a small concern, likely to be gobbled up by some combination.

They have become the biggest manufacturers of shoes in the world—thanks to their policy of "Hide to Wearer."

Their styles are right up to the minute. They have the best designers and shoemakers in the business. They make all shapes and sizes.

An Endicott-Johnson shoe is soft and pliable to the foot; but firm and solid, retaining its shape.

One of their great specialties is the ENDWELL line—a shoe for men that retails for $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00, looks like $4.00 to $5.00 and wears better.

They make shoes for less money than this, and for more.

They tan the leather for every shoe with the one idea of insuring the best service to the wearer.

Now, it is for you to say whether you want this honest tannage—this solid shoemaking—this clean-cut style and high-class workmanship—all for less money than you are now paying (50c to $1.00 a pair less) and with better wear, mind you, than you have had in a shoe for the past ten years.

You can have it if you want it and if there are enough people like you in your town that want it.

Your name on this coupon is a protest against middlemen's profits on your shoes and trust methods in the hide and leather business. And it is a vote for lower prices and longer service in every pair of shoes you buy for yourself or your family.

Are All Advertised Medicines Fakes?

As well ask "Are all doctors quacks?" or "Are all lawyers shysters?" We all know there are ignorant quacks; does that prevent anyone calling in his good, old family physician in case of need and trusting him? There are shysters, but there are also honorable lawyers to whom we confidently trust our lives and fortunes.

There are fake medicines advertised; but they are not fakes because they are advertised. A good thing is worth advertising; we all want to know about it. The more a bad thing is advertised, the worse for it in the end.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is no fake; yet it is advertised; it advertises itself; and those who have used it are its best advertisers, and that free of cost.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved its merit by more than thirty years general use. This simple, old-fashioned remedy, made from roots and herbs, has become the standard medicine for ailments peculiar to women,—its fame is world-wide.

Read this plain, honest statement of what the medicine did for one woman; her own words; if you doubt, write and ask her.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back hurt, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so when I saw your advertisement in a paper one day, I wrote to you for advice. I have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, and Liver Pills, and used the Sassafras Wash, and now I have my health. We keep your medicine always in the house."—Mrs. B. H. Stansbury, Route No. 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test of years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

CHAPTER VII.

THERE'S no questioning the fact that two weeks of Radville had driven Duncan to desperation. On the morning of the fifteenth day he was in his room at Miss Carpenter's and lay for a time staring vacantly at the gaudily papered ceiling, not through his eyes, but through his mind.

"Why," he reflected aloud, "it does not seem reasonable, but I'm actually looking forward to the delirious dislocation of church next Sunday!"

"Me?"

"If Kellogg could only see me now! I must have done something to deserve this in my mispent life."

"Wonder if nothing ever happens here. I'd give a whole lot, if I had it, for a good roasting fire on Main street—the Higelow House for choice."

"And it's got me to the point of drooling to myself, like those fellows you read about who got lost in the desert."

"Come! Get out of this! And, my boy, remember to count that day lost whose low descending sun sees nothing accomplished, nothing done."

"Probably misquoted, at that."

Suddenly he rose and dressed. He was late at the breakfast and silent and reserved throughout that meal. Poor Miss Carpenter thought him disinterested and hung round his chair, pouring with a solicitude that almost maddened him. As soon as possible he made his escape from the house.

The walk he indulged in that morning took him in a wide circle—south on the road to the Gap, then east.

HIS HEAD WAS DOWN, ward, crossing the railroad and the river, north through a swelling agricultural region, east to the flats. He was trudging up Main street toward Center shortly after 11.

Recognition of Leonard & Call's familiar shop front first met him with a spirit of adventure and enterprise. He stopped short, thoughtfully rubbing his small mustache the wrong way, his vision glued to the embarrassingly candid window displays.

"It'd be an awful thing for me to do. 'Think of yourself, man, jumping counters in and out amongst those—those things like a monkey performing on a Monday morning's."

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect he aching back, urinary troubles, diabetes, surely follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache. Cure every kidney ill. Janesville citizens endorse them.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, 118 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney trouble for ten or twelve years. My kidneys became sluggish and their failure to do their work properly, caused me to become weak and helpless. The kidney secretions were very abundant and often my joints were ached and swollen. I had almost given up hope of getting relief when I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a supply at the People's Drug Co. and they soon restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I advise other kidney sufferers to try this remedy."

Confirmed Proof.

Mrs. Johnson was interviewed on September 23, 1910, and she added to the above: "I take pleasure in again recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and advising their use in all cases of kidney trouble. I am still free from kidney complaint and my back does not bother me to any extent."

clothesline." He thought deeply and sighed. "It ain't moral."

"But it's one of the rules; it must be done. Harry said a ribbon clerk was a social equal."

"Come, now! No more shenanigans! Brace up! Be a man!"

"A man? That's the whole trouble. I am a man. I've got no business in a place like that."

He turned and moved away slowly. But the idea had been by the heels. He struggled against a growing resolution to return. Then enlightenment came to him suddenly. He paused again, grappling with this amazing revelation of self.

"Great Scott! Harry was right, darn him! He said this place would reconstruct me from the inside out, and vice versa, and by Jinks, it has! I actually want to work!"

"Can you beat that—me?"

He swung back to Leonard & Call's, mentally reviewing his instructions.

"Let's see. I was to wait at least a month to let the shopkeepers get accustomed to the sight of me. H-m-m, Harry certainly has a cute way of expressing his thought. But it can't be helped. I can't wait. If I do I'll throw up the job."

"I'm to walk in and say, politely, 'I'm looking for employment.' If at any time you should have an opening here that you can offer me I shall endeavor to give satisfaction." Good day.

"But be careful not to press it. Just say it and get right out."

With the air of a man who knows his own mind he pulled open the wire screen door and strode in.

Two minutes later he emerged, breathing hard, but with the glitter of determination in his eye.

"I wouldn't have believed I could get away with it. Here goes for the best promising opening."

He headed for Southern & Lee's drug store.

"Wonder what that fellow would have said if I'd had the nerve to wait and listen."

In the drug store he experienced less difficulty in making his speech and exit. He dashed himself that he accomplished both gracefully, even impressively. And indeed you may have seen him left a gaping audience behind him. So likewise at Godfrey's notion and stationery shop.

"Now," this afternoon, he mused, "I'll wind up the job. By night every one in town will know I want work."

It was 2 o'clock or thereabouts, and he was, when, shaping his course toward Radville's commercial center, Duncan hesitated on the corner of Beech street, looking at an incredible eye up at the weather worn sign which, for years adorned the side of Tut-bill's grocery—a hand, indicating fixedly:

THIS WAY TO GRAHAM'S DRUG STORE.

"Two druggists in Radville!" he mused. "Is it possible? Then this is Harry's mistake if the scheme fails. He said this was a one horse country town, but I'm blast if it isn't a thriving metropolis! Well, here I'm going to have a look."

He turned up Beech and presently discovered the object of his quest, a two story building of "frame," gutters of the ardent carcase of a paint brush since thus out of mind. On the ground floor the windows were made up of many small square panes, several of which had been rudely mended. Through them the interior glimmered darkly. In the foreground stood a broken bottle, shaped like a mortar and pestle, and half full of pink liquid. Beside it reposed a broken packing box in which bleary chamber balls nestled between torn sheets of faded blue paper.

Of these a silent companion in misery stood on the far side of the window, a towering pagoda-like cage of wire in which (trapped, doubtless, by means of some mysterious bait known only to alchemists) three or four but brutal looking sponges were apparently slumbering in exhaustion. Back of these a dusty plaster cast of a male figure lightly draped seemed to represent the survival of the fittest over some strange and deadly patent medicine.

Before long it may be quite as fashionable to ride in a balloon as it now is to dodge police traps in a motor car. In fact, it is high time that the balloon, or something, did come along, for already the motor is getting a little old fashioned; and it no longer so absolutely up to date as it was.—London Sketch.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Oct. 19, 1870. The common council did a good thing last night, in ordering the repaving of North Main Street. As we have before intimated, the street is in a very bad condition, and although rather late in the season to begin to repair a job of that kind, we hope to see the repairs successfully accomplished. The southern sidewalk of this same street, between Milwaukee and Court streets, also presents an unusual opportunity for improvement.

Mr. C. H. Woodruff of Chicago, who many years ago had charge of the Janesville schools, is in the city.

Emigrant wagons westward bound, pass through here nearly every day.

The committee appointed to report measures for the organization of the fire department met this evening. One would think Janesville people are becoming a race of pumpkin eaters, from the large amount of that fruit seen on our streets. R. T. Powell of Fulton, was nominated on Monday, as the Republican candidate for assemblyman from the second district. This nomination completes the Rock County ticket.

From a sign posted on the large vault which is such a prominent object among the ruins of the Hyatt House, a stranger in the city might be led to the impression that the vault is occupied by a drug store.

Bloodthirsty "Sportman."
Sir Victor Brooks in 1880 laid himself out to fire exactly 1,000 cartridges at the bunions. This feat he accomplished in the day's shooting, firing one-half of the day from his right, and during the other half from his left shoulder, and causing no fewer than 740 members of the rabbit race to bite the dust.

Red River Valley Lands
In Southern Polk County, Minnesota.

Soil, rich black loam with clay subsoil.

Good improved farms near good markets, at

$35 to $40

PER ACRE

Less than 300 miles from Duluth and Twin Cities.

I have list of fine farms direct from the owners, all located from two to six miles from good town. These farms were selected by the owners several years ago for quality of soil, location, state of cultivation and improvements. They have all the advantages of Rock County, Wisconsin—Schools, Churches, Good Markets, Creamery, Telephone, Rural Free Delivery, Graded Roads, etc., are supplied with flowing wells furnishing the purest water, and are ideal homes. These lands produce small grains, corn, timothy, clover, vegetables and small fruits in great abundance, which makes them especially fitted for both grain and stock raising and dairying. These fine improved farms can be bought for less money than unimproved farms in some localities farther west where railroad facilities are inadequate and where the rainfall is not so plentiful.

The western fever has carried people past the fertile lands of Minnesota, but the high prices being asked for western lands are causing people to think, and they are beginning to realize the advantages of good improved farms near railroads and central markets over unimproved prairie lands 20 to 30 miles from railroad and far removed from the centers of population.
